James R. Hill, III, ornithologist and owner of Bird Abodes, holding a natural gourd that has been equipped with an in-cavity surveillance camera enabling him to watch, listen, and record a Purple Martin pair's entire 75-day nesting cycle (both night and day), from a monitor inside his office.

The SuperGourd was designed and developed by ornithologist, James R. Hill, III,  who is Founder and Executive Director Emeritus of the Purple Martin Conservation Association. It is the only martin housing on the market today based on over 35 years of scientific research into the needs of Purple Martins.

 Hi. I am James R. Hill, III, owner of Bird Abodes and designer of the SuperGourd. I have been conducting research on Purple Martins for over 33 years and have published over 150 articles on them. I am Founder and Executive Director Emeritus of the Purple Martin Conservation Association, and consulting editor of their quarterly membership magazine, the Purple Martin Update. In 1992, I was the subject of a BBC television documentary entitled: "Bird Nuts, the Magnificent Obsession," which was about my lifelong obsession with Purple Martins. For articles by (or about) me see: "A Passion For Purple Martins" in National Wildlife magazine (August/September 1990, pp 20-24); "Social Cavity Nesters" in WildBird magazine (March 1994, pp 38-41); "Purple Martin's Majesty" in Bird Conservation magazine (Late Winter/Early Spring 1998, pp 9,14); "Martin Mania" in Birder's World magazine (April 1998, pp 32-36); and "Martin Management Tips" in Bird Watcher's Digest (March/April 1999, pp 71-77). I have designed, or helped design, many of the products in this catalog because I wanted landlords everywhere to be able to offer their martins scientifically-proven, state-of-the-art products rather than the poorly-designed, mediocre, housing currently saturating the market.
